

Web Development and Design for Everyone
Spring 07 Academic Fair Handout
First Session Summer 07
4 credits
T,Th 12:00-4:00 pm

This class will cover everything you need to develop highly effective Web sites. We will learn XHTML, the basics of Web design and development and review some successful strategies for promoting Web sites, including accessibility and standards.

We will cover the concepts and provide step-by-step presentations that demonstrate how to implement these concepts in practice. This class will have a strong hands-on component. The class will meet for 8 hours a week split between lab and lecture.

Faculty:

Sherry Shulman

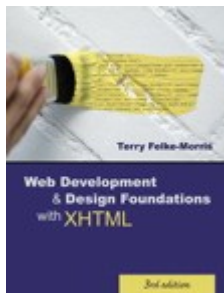

Lab I 1009

867-6721

Email: sherry@evergreen.edu

Website: <http://grace.evergreen.edu/~sherry>

Textbook: Web Development & Design Foundations With XHTML, 3/E

Terry Felke-Morris, Harper College

Publisher: Addison Wesley Higher Education

Copyright: 2007

ISBN-10: 032143675x